. . . Preface

In publishing this book: the Cardinal for 1949, we, the senior staff, have endeavored to give you a record of the activities and achievements of our students and faculty during the past year. We also wish to pay tribute to a member of our school board, for his outstanding work and years of service. And, as with every other book of this kind, we hope it will prove to hold a treasury of memories for our classmates in years to come.

Dedication

Mr. John Reutter

Dedication

We, the members of the senior class, hereby dedicate this 1949 Cardinal to Mr. John Reutter, in grateful recognition of his twenty-three years as a member of our school board. His efforts in this capacity have been unselfish and untiring.

The Staff

. . . Concerning Mr. Reutter

In the dedication of this volume of the Cardinal, we could think of few men as deserving of the honor as Mr. Reutter.

He has served on our school board for the past twenty-three years. During the course of those years, he has held the offices of secretary and president.

Mr. Reutter was born in Fountain Creek township, the son of Christiana and Christopher Reutter. He received his education at Fowler school, near his home, and there he grew to manhood. Mr. Reutter's formal education was terminated early in life. It was due partly to that fact that he was especially anxious for his children to receive a good education.

By serving on the board of Fowler school, he received experience as a director even before his marriage. Later, he acted as a director on the boards of Rudd and Pond Lily schools.

On December 26, 1906, he was married to Anna Verkler. Mr. Reutter, who comes from a family of eight children, also has eight children. They are: Orville, Earl, Paul, Mrs. George Calkin, Ernest, Mrs. Lester Knapp, John, Jr. and Ralph. During his term of office, Mr. Reutter signed the high school diplomas of all of his children, with the exception of his oldest son, Orville.

For many years while the old school building served for both grade and high schools, Mr. Reutter provided the baseball diamond, converting one of his pastures to that use. Thus we see that he is inteersted in the recreational side as well as the more serious aspects of school life.

Of the many projects which have demanded his attention, one of the most outstanding was the construction of our present high school building. The completion of this venture demanded much of his time and energy, which he willingly gave.

Mr. Reutter has recently been elected to serve on the board of our new unit district.

The satisfaction of a job well done may rest with Mr. Reutter, and also the assurance that he has the continuing appreciation and respect of his community.

Board, Faculty and Student Council

In their monthly meetings the five members of our board—Mr. John Reutter, Mr. August Teske, Mr. Aaron Bauer, Mr. Emil Schmitt, and Mr. Henry Wilkening, have worked hard to carry out school projects. It is their task to see that the school remains within a set budget; this task in itself creates many problems. We believe we have a marvelous "five". These five men have been working together for four years and have been truly interested in our school and its necessities. Mr. Anderson, the principal of our high school and representative of the faculty, works with the board in guidance and planning..

In turn the faculty meets periodically to discuss aims and objectives for the school year. They are our leaders for four years. Besides supervising our academic activities and our extra-curricular activities they prepare us for adult life and serve as the step between youth and adulthood. We have a very cooperative faculty; the teachers are concerned with our individual, intellectual growth and development.

The members of the student council are elected at the beginning of the school year in the fall. There are more upperclassmen represented in the organization for they have more mature judgment in leadership and are in a position to set examples for the underclassmen. The student council serves as a medium between the students and the faculty. Mr. Anderson, the principal, is the advisor.

This year the student council has sponsored many activities. Along with the nine full-length movies, each class was asked to give an assembly program on a certain date. We had some very entertaining productions. Besides sponsoring the sale of tickets for athletic events, the student council also sponsored four all-school parties.

Last but not least, there is the man whose energy and toil seems never to end. This man is our custodian, George Rechkemmer, who has been with us for six years. Perhaps George does not realize it but we all appreciate his long hours of labor in keeping our school the attractive building that it is.

The four years have definitely passed by too quickly. As we leave high school we not only look back to "the good ole days" but also are full of the hope for what the future may bring. We will not appreciate the opportunities that have been ours in school until time passes, and we look back and see the opportunities of which we did not take advantage.

Our class is graduating with twenty-nine members. The senior play "Foot-Loose' was presented in the fall.

To the senior class of next year, and all succeeding classes, we ask that they strive to keep the high standard for which our school always has been known.

ACTIVITIES

COMMERCIAL CLUB

Students who have taken or are taking a commercial subject are eligible to join the Commercial Club which was organized six years ago. The organization was put on a firmer basis this year through the adoption of a constitution. Meetings are held monthly and are educational as well as entertaining. The group has learned a little about the business world through the medium of films, guest speakers, and general discussion. Officers for the year of 1948-1949 were:

President - - - - - -	Alice Froehling
Vice-President - - - - -	Tom Caldwell
Secretary-Treasurer - - - -	Velma Koester

PARKER PRESS

No doubt, everyone in the Cissna Park community is familiar with the Parker Press. It is a Commercial Club enterprise and is edited monthly. A round-up of school activities is its chief content, although a page or two is always devoted to the more personal activities of the various students.

CARDINAL

The annual, for the last few years, has been the responsibility of the senior class. The Class of '49, as have the others before us, has put a lot of work into the book and we hope it will serve its purpose.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Home Economics classes divided the year into different units. In this way they felt they would be better able to undertsand each unit thoroughly and make the best use of their time.

The units which the juniors took up were: preservation of foods, interior decoration, planning and preparation of foods for dinners, and a sewing unit in which they sewed dresses for special occasions. At Christmas they made gifts of textile painting and painting on glass. The last unit was on family relationship.

The sophomore class had one unit on preservation. The next was a unit on sewing; the girls made dresses for school. At Christmas they had a unit on textile painting. The last unit was the planning and preparation of luncheons.

The freshman class had a personality unit. They then made aprons to wear while working in the laboratory. The sewing unit consisted of sewing dresses for school. They made various gifts at Christmas. The last unit was on breakfasts and luncheons.

The Home Economics classes try to develop in the girls a spirit of self-improvement. They learn by experience in actually planning and preparing meals. In this and many other ways the girls are being prepared to take their place as future homemakers.

"Recipe for Better Living" was the theme for the year of the Future Homemakers of America.

Each month the F. H. A. held a business meeting and a social gathering. The theme was carried out very effectively at these times. One of the most successful social events was the Christmas Formal Dance held jointly with the F. F. A. boys. Another social event was "Mom's Night Out" with the style show presented by the freshmen and sophomore girls. The Mother-Daughter Banquet was held May 5.

HOBBIES

AGRICULTURE

The Agriculture Department has functioned very well this year, having completed many building projects for the farmers throughout the community. Some of the finished products are listed here: flare bed wagons, hog houses, feed bunks, self feeders, hog troughs, filing cabinets, book cases and farm gates.

The Junior Dairy Herd Improvement Association was reorganized at the beginning of the year with the following members as officers: Orville Teske, president; the committee for equipment: Robert Cluver, Roger Niebuhr and Ivan Wilkening, chairman; the schedule committee: Don Feller and Francis Cluver, chairman. Each boy tests milk from his home herd once every month. He then records the results in a record book and compares them with the results of other members.

The F. F. A. Swine Improvement Association will also be reorganized. This association is for boys with swine projects who wish to improve the growing ability and quality of their animals.

The Agriculture Department has added a soil testing laboratory in which soil fertility tests are conducted. Farmers of the community consider soil testing a definite advantage when applying fertilizers.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

For this year the Cissna Park Chapter of the Future Farmers of America has been organized as follows:

President	Donald Drilling
Vice-President	James Frank
Secretary	Donald Kaufman

DEPARTMENTS

We hope to give you an idea of the activities and projects of our school in the picture pages of this book. The following pages are primarily devoted to the different curricular departments.

In the commerce department, we have offered bookkeeping, office practice, and typing I. This year's heavy schedule has not permitted the inclusion of shorthand.

Our social science department includes courses in world history, American history, and economics.

Under the heading of mathematics, is found algebra I, plane geometry, and advanced algebra. We might add that these students are still searching for that elusive unknown: "X".

In the science laboratory are found the phenomena of the physical and chemical worlds. Students are given an insight into general science, biology, physics, and chemistry.

Through the study of the French language, another of our courses, we not only learn the language itself but become acquainted with the customs and people of that country.

The English department contains a very high enrollment this year. Four years of English are offered; these courses include English literature, American literature, and English grammar.

Although each teacher has his own methods of reaching his objectives, the primary purpose of our school program is to prepare the student for a useful and well-balanced life.

DRAMA AND SPEECH

The seniors presented Footloose, a comedy by Charles Burdette, as their class play. The main action centers around the Early family. The children persuade their parents to take a South American Cruise. While they are gone, Dick comes home from college married (which was against the will of his parents) Delphie comes down with pneumonia, Mary falls deeply in love with Jack Milford, a college sophomore who merely "leads her on", and Bob runs into Mrs. Forester's new Lincoln with an old jallopy he and Buzz Daily purchased.

As the story unfolds, Hope and Sanford Welles, a young lawyer, are brought together again. Sanford succeeds in making a settlement with Mrs. Forester and we find Mary and Andy together with the Earlys reconciling the marriage of Dick and Jenny.

Different selections of choral reading were also a part of our speech work. The Speech Class gave several choral reading numbers at the W. C. T. U. Convention in the fall. Choral reading was an important part of the Christmas Concert. The Christmas story was related in this way with the members of the Speech Class giving individual selections.

All members of the Speech Class participated in our local speech contest. Those who went on to the District Contest at Pontiac were: Lois Kogler, Glenn Feller, Dona Feller, Alice Froehling, Dwight McGrew, and Dorothy Harweger.

Dona Feller, Alice Froehling, Dwight McGrew, and Dorothy Harweger went on to the Sectional Contest at Streator.

Dorothy Harweger represented Cissna Park at the State Contest in Champaign.

Junior Miss, our contest play, was given a first rating in class B schools at the Sectional for which we received a banner.

Family Portrait, our speech class production, was presented in intimate theatre style. This play vividly portrays the characteristics of Jesus's family.

The juniors presented three one acts this year, The Trysting Place, Love and Marriage, and Wisdom of Wives.

MUSIC

Mr. Anderson has directed the vocal department this year while Mr. Trask has had charge of the band. Although this added work has made their schedules unduly heavy, they have given the utmost of their time and effort to promote the music department. We have greatly appreciated their work and would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge it.

The band and choruses made several appearances this year, among which were the County Music Festival at Watseka on December 6; the Christmas Concert December 22, in which the speech department also participated and the Spring Concert on May 22. Forrest Buchtel from the Vandercook School of Music and Floyd V. Wakeland from Southern Illinois University were the Music Festival conductors.

On March 26 the several ensembles participated in the District Music Contest at Momence. The results were: Girls' Ensemble No. 1, second place; Girls' Ensemble No. 2, second place; Boys' Ensemble, second place; and Mixed Ensemble, first place. Helen McLaughlin presented a flute solo and received first place. The first place winners were eligible to compete in the State Contest at Macomb on April 29-30. The vocal ensembles have made several additional appearances this year at various club meetings and parties. The several choruses also participated in the Organizations' Contest on April 9 at Hoopeston.

On March 9, the band members and Mr. Trask made their annual pilgrimage to the University campus to hear the University of Illinois Concert Band present their Annual Anniversary Concert.

FLASH!

At the State Contest at Macomb our Mixed Chorus, Mixed Ensemble and Girls' Chorus all rated first positions. Helen McLaughlin placed second in flute solo competition.
